Course Description

With its rising economic clout, Asia has become a magnet for firms from around the world. While the ever-expanding Asian market provides endless opportunities, many businesses find that the Asian legal systems present a big challenge to their investment in or trade with Asian countries. Deeply influenced by diverse legal traditions, Asian legal systems that exist today also bears heavy marks left by the Civil Law system, the Socialist ideology, as well as the Common Law system in its commercial law. Thus, the Asian legal systems appear unique and complicated. This course aims to help the students to gain an insider's perspective of one of the most important nations in the world today, with a special emphasis on its legal systems. In addition to the doctrinal studies on key areas in the Asian legal systems, the course, under the Overseas Project Experience (Law in Asia) model, will also expose the students to its practical operations through project-based consultancy with our Asian partners and a week-long field trip in a particular Asian jurisdiction. Through this course, the students will not only grasp the basic contours of the Asian legal systems, but also gain hands-on experience by working with Asian legal practitioners to solve real-world legal issues. The overseas trip is expected to take place between Week 17 - 20 (depending on overseas partners), during which students are expected to finalize their final project. Note for graduating students: If you are taking this course in Term 1, you will graduate in Term 2 instead of Term 1 (This will not affect your commencement ceremony). If you are taking this course in Term 2, you will graduate in Term 3A instead of Term 2 (This will not affect your commencement ceremony).

Instructional Methods and Expectations

ASSESSMENT METHOD

|                                 |     |
|---------------------------------|-----|
| Individual Class Participation: | 15% |
| Mid-term Exam (1.5 hour):       | 20% |
| Individual Field Trip Report    | 15% |
| Final project report:           | 50% |

No questions from past year papers or published test banks will be used verbatim for the graded assessments in this course.

Individual class participation (15%)

Students are expected to participate actively in discussions in class and during the field trip, using the knowledge they have gained from the readings and other preparations they have done before the class and field trip. Both the quantity and quality of the contributions made by each student will be taken into account in the assessment.

Mid-term examination (20%)

There will be a 1.5-hour open book exam in Week 10. The exam paper will consist of a few MCQ and an essay question drawn from the materials covered during the first eight weeks.

Individual Field Trip Report (15%)

At the end of the course, each student shall prepare a written field trip report to summarize his/her field trip experience. The paper will discuss an issue involving the Chinese legal system and the student's reflection over it, such as a comparison between Chinese and Singaporean positions on this issue. To maximize the pedagogical value of the field trip, the students are encouraged to choose a topic that is relevant to the field trip. The paper should be no more than 1,500 words (including footnotes).

Final Project Report (50%)

Students will be divided into 3-4 groups, and each group will be assigned with a project topic related to the real-world legal practices of our partners. Students will receive their projects in Singapore and discuss them with faculty and mentors. During the field trip, students will visit our partner institutions, discuss further with their mentors and obtain feedback. Students may also be asked to present preliminary results of their research to the institutions. The final project reports (mostly in the form of legal memoranda or policy reports) should be submitted through e-learn/dropbox.

Note: This course will not meet the requirement to be tagged for research paper requirement.

COURSE METHODS

The course will be taught through active class discussions. It is expected and assumed that students will have read any assigned material prior to class meetings and that they will engage in active discussion of the material during class.
